

Epilogue

The seven papers assembled here are highly varied in discipline, theoretical orientation, and methodology, reflecting the rich diversity of social sciences. We thank the authors for their efforts. To be noted is that three of the authors have now left ICU. Dietrich Thränhardt was a visiting professor from Germany. Anna Maria Thränhardt, Dietrich's wife and a scholar in her own right, was a research associate of the Social Science Research Institute. Gaynor Macdonald from Australia served for two years as assistant professor of anthropology. It was good to have them at ICU.

(Koya Azumi)